

WAAL General Meeting 03/10/22

President, Andi Wolfe:

- WAAL has an opportunity to show works at Innis Woods in the Fall. There is some concern about the size of the exhibition space. Details to be posted at a later date
- There will be a virtual all members show in the Spring. Details to follow.
- General meetings will continue through May at the Worthington Community Center on Wilson Bridge Rd. We are still waiting for the Griswold Community Center to have evening hours.
- Members can sign up on the WAAL website to show works at the Worthington Community Center and Sunny Street Café under the “Venues” link.
- We will not be offering a senior high scholarship this year.
- March 24 will be the last scheduled critique. Critiques will resume in November.

Beth Veldey, Treasurer:

- Fund raising for WAAL is now available by establishing an Amazon Smile account. Register on the Amazon website so that your purchases earn donations to our organization at no cost to you.

Sarah-Jane Workman, Community Coordinator:

- She is working on arranging a 2023/2024 WAAL exhibit at the Concourse Gallery at the Upper Arlington Community Center. She will send out a call for photos of member’s work to be submitted with our application.
- She suggested that members might listen to the Lonely Artist podcasts.

Speaker: Hiroshi Hayakawa, 2D and 3D artist and teacher at the Columbus College of Art and Design
